

Chris Delisio, Health & Higher Education

Chris Delisio brings almost two decades of development and marketing experience, focusing most of his career in higher education. He has helped plan and lead successful capital campaigns, major gift and annual giving programs throughout his tenure. Chris has worked for a variety of organizations throughout his career, including the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU), North Carolina Special Olympics, UNC Wilmington, the University of Dayton and Ohio University. Currently, Chris is the Director of Development at The Ohio State University Comprehensive Cancer Center.